AFRAID TO TRUST THE GOVERN-MENT.

Evidence, abundent and conclusive, presents itself on all sides, that the peoplemen of all parties—have no confidence in the Government under the Lincoln Abolition Administration, and are arraid to trust it. If it is not so why does it require $172 in. Lincoln greenbacks to buy $100 in gold? If it is not so, why is that monied men are unwilling to loan money to the Government at 6 per cent. interest? Thousands and millions of dollars are being loaned to individuals, corporations, and States, at 5 per cent. interest. There is now on dedost in the banks of this county nearly a million of dollars—more than half a million in the Bank of Chester County-the most of it belonging to Republicans who know that the Government is begging for money, but they will not loan a dollar!

Why, John Hickman, himself, who has contributed, by his speeches and votes, to push the country into its present ruinous condition, will not loan to the Government a rad cent of the thousands he has pocketed as a member of Congress. He votes for laws to draw money from other people, but his own he prefers to invest in West Ches ter Gas Stock, where he has hope of getting it back, to letting it go to the Government which he fears will never pay! These facts speak for themselves. So far as Republican monied men are concerned, they show themselves to be acting most hypo critically towards the public, and disloyally towards the Government.—Jeffersonian.

We find the following strange advertisement in a Salem, Mass., paper:
"Bosoms—just opened. A fine boso for 17 cents—a very nice bosom at 25 cents. Our stock of bosoms is full, and at very low prices."

This is the most frightful picture of immorality we have ever happened to see.-The "full" and "very nice" bosoms are well enough-in fact they are rather favorites with the community in that shape; but the idea of "opening" them at 17 and 25 cents is shameful, and we hope that Salem may never say anything more about Philalelphia or Paris after that.

The Abolitionists still continue their reparations for the burial of the Union.— After a prolonged effort, commenced in Puritanical New England more than three score years ago, they have succeeded in bringing on a sectional war and stabbing the Union to the heart, and now they are trying to bury the corpse out of sight .-The leaders are paving the way for foreign mediation, by which they hope to bring about what they so ardently desire and at the same time hope to escape the odium of having designed it from the beginning and shaped all their measures to accomplish it Whenever these men are ready to ac knowledge the failure of their plan of saving the Union, let them stand aside, and viser men will save it. If Lincoln, his Cabinet, Congress, and the Republican party, have no respect for constitutional oaths, they ought at least to respect the nearly unanimous protest of the States of the Union. They have no reason to hope for success in fighting for a universally repudiated porty platform. They have no right to missepresent the real sovereignty of the nation. If the North is divided, it is because the Administration refuses to obey the popular voice. If the efforts to restore the Union fail; it is because the partizan friends of that Administration are determined to destroy the old Union that they may erect a new Government upon the platform of a party. If the people of the great Western and Central States, North and South, could be heard at Washington, the war would end and the Union be restored. The sovereignty of the people is original and tive. plenary-that of the governments they have nstituted for their welfare-both State and National-is derivative and partial. The people, therefore, owe the governments of the States and of the Nation only so much submission and fealty as is correspondent with that measure of their inherent sove. unimpaired. with that measure of their innerent solve reignty which they have delegated to those governments. And here we must make a distinction between a Constitutional government, and it may well be lifted this year for honest government, for the faithful objective to the control of t administer it. A people may be entirely loyal to the political system they have ereated for their government, and yet entirely opposed to the action of those whom they have appointed to enforce that system. The agents emyloyed to execute certain powers, under oath, may violate them.-The trust is thereby broken. But because AFRAID TO TRUST THE GOVERNthose who gave the powers and reposed the trust, complain of the faithlessness of their trustees, they surely do not, therefore, oppose the trust, or the thing entrusted, nor can they be fairly accused of any such folly. Hence, a people who censure their political rulers for grossly exceeding their delegated powers, are surely not guilty of infidelity to the government, which is a very different thing from the administration. Let us go a step further in this argument If censure of those who abuse a political trust, by exceeding or perverting it, is not a crime, but a duty, what should be thought of those who aid and abet such usurpation ? Who, pray, are disloyal to the government? They who resist encroachment on the Constitution, or they who countenance and encourage encroachment? Are they disloyal who hold the private citizen and the public but they will not loan a dollar! officer to the laws of the State; or they who, by agreeing to support the latter in treating the laws with contempt, virtually incite both the people and their servants to disregard & overthrow the laws? It seems to us, that while that party which insists only on a faithful adherence of the people and their servants to the laws is really loyal, those his own he prefers to invest in West Chesviolating the laws, are but aiders and abettors of treason. We never supposed that A and are now selling as cheap as the the day would ever come, under this government of Dry Goods, con- ernment, when a political party would be denounced as seditious and treasonable, for simply insisting that the chosen executors of the laws shall be faithful to them, and that another party, which more than approves of the grossest invasions of the Constitution by the Executive, would have the supreme impudence to set itself up as the exclusive embodiment of patriotism and loyalty. Surely the people of America never can be persuaded that the way to preserve their liberties, is to give them up that the best and safest mode of securing a government of law, is to suffer tyrants to destroy it on the plea of "necessity." 'Junius" said to the people of England: Both liberty and property are precarious unless the possessors have sense and spirit enough to defend them. MENT.

Evidence, abundent and conclusive, presents itself on all sides, that the peoplemen of all parties-have no confidence in the Government under the Lincoln Abolition Administration, and are afraid to trust it. If it is not so why does it require $172 in Lincoln greenbacks to buy $100 in gold? If it is not so, why is that monied men are unwilling to loan money to the Government at 6 per cent. interest? Thousands and millions of dollars are being loaned to individuals, corporations, and States, at 5 per cent, interest. There is now on deposit in the banks of this county nearly a million of dollars-more than half a million in the Bank of Chester County-the most of it belonging to Republicans who know that the Government is begging for money, Why, John Hickman, himself, who has contributed, by his speeches and votes, to push the country into its present ruinous condition, will not loan to the Government a red cent of the thousands he has pocketed as a member of Congress. He votes for it back, to letting it go to the Government, which he fears will never pay! These facts speak for themselves. So far as Republican monied men are concerned. they show themselves to be acting most hypocritically towards the public, and disloyally towards the Government.—Jeffersonium. We find the following strange advertisement in a Salem, Mass., paper:

THE PROTEST OF THE STATES.

There are twenty-three so-called loyal

States, and eleven in rebellion. A majority of the twenty-three loyal States are hostile to the policy of the Administration, as developed in the two proclamations of President Lincoln. Wisconsin has given a popular majority against that policy. So has Illinois. So has Ohio. Iowa is nearly evenly balanced on the question. Indiana has just elected two Senators to go to Washington and protest against it. The people of Missouri are irrevocably committed against it. The Governor of Kentucky most earnestly condemns it. Pennsylvania has just elected a Senator uncompromising just elected a Senator uncompromising y opposed to it, and she gave a majority of her votes against it at the recent State election. New Jersey has sent a delegation to Congress to vote against it. Maryland and Delaware are daily pleading against it on the floors of Congress. New York denounced it in thunder tones at the polls, and her whole State administration is solemnly comwhole State administration is solemnly committed against it. Outside of New England, of all the States of the Union, two only-Michigan and Minnesota-stand unequivocally committed to the unconstitutional proclamations of the President.

Twenty months ago, every Northern State and nearly every border State supported the officers of the Federal Govern-ment. What has wrought this revolution? How came the four principal States of the Southern Confederacy out of the Union, which not yet two years ago a large majori-Baton Rouge the 3d Louisiana Native ty of their people voted to sustain? How comes it that the National Administration is left to look for support solely to New England and two frozen States of the Northwest? And how long can a war be carried on for the abolition of slavery against the will of nine-tenths of all the States of the Union?

If Lincoln, his Cabinet, Congress, and the Republican party, have no respect for constitutional oaths, they ought at least to respect the nearly unanimous protest of the States of the Union. They have no reason to hope for success in fighting for a univer-sally repudiated party platform. They have no right to misrepresent the real sovereignty of the nation. If the North is divided, it is because the Administration refuses to obey the popular voice. If the offorts to restore the Union fail, it is because the partizan friends of that Administration are determined to destroy the old Union that they may erect a new Government up-on the phatform of a party. If the people of the great Western and Central States, North and South, could be heard at Washington, the war would end and the Union be restored. But while the foolish and furions attempt goes on to subject the whole land to the rule of New England, defeat and failure are as inevitable as the daily revolution of the sun.—Melwaukee News.

CHARLES FRANCIS TRAIN.

Less than a year ago Mr. Charles Francis Frain, of Boston, delighted the people of the loyal States by making a dozen or two of strong union speeches at various places in England, where he was then sojourning.ple of our State, for the payment of such purchases, as unauthorized by the Constitution Brochamation, because, to use his own language, such a document ill-usage experienced at our hands, the poor secessionists with a hearty good will, Train was voted a trump in the loyal States, and "would be as inoperative as the Pope's bull against the comet." This was a good resolve, and the people rejoiced together, the collar-men not excepted. But when, a few Carolina, and—God bless him for it!—

He had succeeded in making himself famous on both sides of the Atlantic, and it is not improbable that many of the most rampantly loyal Republicans had him secretly booked as their next candidate for the Presi-

When he arrived at Boston, he fell in with several Reports of Congressional Committees, exposing the imbecility of the Lincoln administration, the villainies of the Cameron horse contracts, the rascalities of the Navy department in chartering and fitting out vessels, and the general Schell was recommended for Senatorial Schell was recommended for Senat Delegate, untrammeled by any instructions, tration, these same pliable liek spittles again was not known however what would be the conviction that the Lincoln administration had permitted the war for the Union to be converted into a war for plundering the Northern people. Resolved not to stand quietly by and see the country ruined at home after he had spent so much breath to promote its interests abroad, Train promptly mounted the rostrum in Boston and denounced the plundering abolitionists as vigorously as he had previously denounced the secessionists in London. The pious Puritans did not take his exhortations to is a great mistake. The interests of the sense. Nay, more, these collar-men—these brutal outrage perpetrated by a gang of prepared to give up plundering the people honesty in good part. They are not yet under color of serving their country, and they hit upon the expedient of getting rid of Train's exposures of their hypocricy and rascality by imposing demonstrations of mob violence. Driven out of Boston, Train went on a speaking tour westward, handling the "loyal" thieves without gloves at a number of points where he stopped to speak. Last week he reached St. Louis, intending to address the public there. But it did not suit our "free soil, free lapor and free house of Lynch about It o'clock at night, speech" administration to permit Train to continue his exposures of Republican rascality and imbecility, and the military comamulgamating intrigues, and stating that he imandant at St. Louis, doubtless acting under orders from Washington, arrested Train
